

NEXT GENERATION OF QUALITY BUILDERS LEARNING TO TAKE OVER

It's simple...hard work and strong values pay off. Ron Wampler and his partner (and wife) Mary Beth founded their company with the earnest belief that by carefully listening to customers and providing a home of superior quality -on time and within budget- success would follow. It has. Ron Wampler Builder, Inc. today ranks among the finest custom builders in this area with a reputation among clients and peers that is unsurpassed. Now, Ron and Mary Beth are steering the next generation of Ron Wampler Builder, Inc. into the 22nd century.

Ryan Wampler graduated from Indiana State University with a degree in construction management. Ryan states, "What I have learned from my father is relationships are the most important thing in business."

Jerod Nelis, nephew of Ron and Mary Beth, graduated from Kelley School of Business with a degree in marketing and holds an Indiana Real Estate License. Jerod shares the same philosophy, "the difference today is that everything changes quickly. Custom home building is beyond the typical pickup truck builders. The tools we use today, the way we make buying decisions, technology and the way we manage our business has to be a little more businesslike."

The Wamples see history repeating itself. As the next generation brings in new ideas, technology and much needed energy, Ron and Mary Beth are there to mentor and teach through their years of experience.

The most integral part in making a new home "custom" is you, the client. We believe that clear and open lines of communication are one of the single most important facets of any job in any generation. To ensure this, we at Ron Wampler Builder, Inc. encourage each client to become actively involved in the construction process. We feel that by interacting with our team of architects, designers and contractors, our clients will better understand the process and be able to relate ideas and information that ultimately will result in a truly "custom" home...their home.

SALT DAMAGE

Salt used for de-icing walks and roads can cause or aggravate winter injury to ornamental plantings. Salt spray from vehicles can also cause damage appearing as a burn on the foliage. Salt washed into ornamental beds can injure roots and also can be absorbed by the plant, eventually resulting in foliar damage.
