STARZ

By Rob Owen

Dunaway, Moore return to television wo veteran actresses make guest-star appearances tonight.

Faye Dunaway plays a former Las Vegas showgirl with ties to the underworld on "CSI" (9 p.m., CBS, TV-14).

While best known for a long film résumé including "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Thomas Crown Affair, "Chinatown," "Network" and "Mommie Dearest," Dunaway is no stranger to television. Last year she was the star of the WB reality talent search called "The Starlet.'

Dunaway has been making TV movies since the 1970s, appearing in adaptations of the stage dramas "Hogan's Goat" (1971) and "After the Fall" (1974) on the small screen.

She played Evita long before Madonna did, starring in the title role of the 1981 made-for-TV biopic "Evita Peron," co-starring James Farentino as her dictator husband.

Fans of "Alias" will recall Dunaway's guest stints as Ariana Kane. She also appeared on the Showtime series "Soul Food" as Katherine Burke and had several stints on "Touched By An Angel" as Dr. Rebecca Markham.

A repeat episode of "CSI" (8 p.m., TV-14, V) will precede tonight's original installment.

• Mary Tyler Moore will appear on "That '70s Show" (8 p.m., Fox, TV-14,D). The multiple-Emmy winner will appear as the star of local TV show "What's Up Wisconsin?'

This is clearly a nod to her job at a local Minnesota TV station on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," one of the more popular shows of the '70s.

The guest spot on "That '70s Show" marks a homecoming of sorts for Moore. The comedy is shot in the same Studio City studio where "Mary Tyler Moore" was produced from 1970 to 1977.

"That '70s Show" will air its final episode in May. The comedy debuted in 1998 and has been limping along for some time now. The past season has seen the departure of its two biggest stars, Ashton Kutcher and Topher

A second episode (8:30 p.m.) follows.

• "The Final Report: The Waco Tragedy" (10 p.m., National Geographic) looks at the 1993 standoff between federal agents and the heavily armed Branch Davidian compound that resulted in a gunbattle, fire and multiple fatalities.

Witnesses on both sides of the hostilities are interviewed, and events leading up to the explosive confrontation are re-examined with 12 years' hindsight and reflection.

Clive Doyle, a survivor of the inferno at the compound, recalls their leader, David Koresh, who used Biblical end-times prophecies to teach his followers about coming government persecution and exhorted them to buy guns, and, if necessary, use them.

Four federal agents were shot and killed while attempting to serve a warrant on Koresh. A 51-day siege ensued, ending in catastrophe. Doyle lost a daughter in the conflagration.

Tonight's other highlights

- Kaitlin refuses to settle down on "The O.C." (9 p.m., Fox, TV-14).
- Afraid that his popularity is waning, Michael exchanges his office for a cubicle on "The Office" (9:30 p.m., NBC, TV-14).
- Suzanne finds a new social circle on "Crumbs" (9:30 p.m., ABC, TV-PG).
- A missing teacher may be hiding something on "Without a Trace" (10 p.m., CBS, TV-PG, V).
- · A sudden crash sends a surrogate mother into labor on "ER" (10 p.m., NBC, TV-14).
- Scheduled on "Primetime" (10 p.m., ABC): a recent rash of cruise ship whodunits.

Cult choice

A cornea transplant recipient (Lee Sin-Je) suffers nightmares and visions in the 2002 Hong Kong-produced shocker "The Eye" (7:15 p.m., IFC).

Series notes

A bombshell revelation on "Will & Grace" (8 p.m., NBC, TV-14) ... A fateful trip to the fortress of solitude on "Smallville" (8 p.m., WB, TV-PG, D, L, V) ... Barry dates Ben's old crush on "Four Kings" (8:30 p.m., NBC, TV-14) ... Mass transit on "Love, Inc." (8:30 p.m., UPN, TV-PG).

Doormats no longer on "Eve" (9 p.m., UPN, TV-PG) ... Competition on "Beauty and the Geek" (9 p.m., WB, TV-PG) ... A lesson in deportment on "Cuts" (9:30 p.m., UPN, TV-PG).

Late night

Dr. Phil and Bill Scheft on "Late Show With David Letterman" (11:35 p.m., CBS) ... Jay Leno hosts Jake Gyllenhaal, Steve Irwin and Seether on "The Tonight Show" (11:35 p.m., NBC).

Actress who battled depression pregnant

Brooke Shields, who is pregnant with her second child, says of her baby due in May: "It's a girl!" "I wasn't sure I was going to make this public," Shields told People magazine in a report Tuesday. "I'm thrilled for my daughter to have a little friend."

Shields' other daughter, Rowan, who is 2, was born in May.

The 40-year-old actress has been married to TV writer-producer Chris Henchy since 2001.

Shields chronicled her postpregnancy experiences in a memoir, "Down Came the Rain: My Journey Through Postpartum Depression.'

Her outspoken support of antidepressants prompted criticism from Tom Cruise, a Scientologist who opposes prescription medication to battle depression.

Motown icons to play at Super Bowl festivity

The Four Tops, one of Motown Records' biggest hit producers, will perform at a black-tie Super Bowl pre-game event next week.

The group will join a host of sports stars and celebrities at "A Detroit Salute" Monday night at the Fox Theatre.

The event will feature chief executives of Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and the Chrysler Group. Proceeds will go to The Greater Detroit Charitable Foundation, the Super Bowl host committee's charitable arm.

In the fall ABC was hailing the success of "Commander in Chief" (9 p.m. Tuesday), and last week star Geena Davis won the Golden Globe for Best Actress in a Drama Series But one night later, "Chief" drew its lowest ratings yet opposite the season premiere of Fox powerhouse "American Idol."

In the series, Davis plays the first female American president. Mackenzie Allen, an independent who's often at odds with the Republican speaker of the House, Nathan Templeton (Donald Sutherland).

Behind the scenes, "Chief" has been troubled from the start. Creator Rod Lurie was unable to keep production on schedule and was replaced when ABC executives feared the series wouldn't have enough original episodes for all of November

Steven Bochco, veteran executive producer of "NYPD Blue," was hired to be the new "Chief" show runner and the series has improved its black-and-white portrayals of Allen as a saint and Templeton as a mustache-twirling villain.

But Davis' performance continues to be wooden and clenched in scenes that call for her to be commanding, and the stories are overly simplistic.

'Shades of gray are always helpful," said executive producer

Geena Davis stars in ABC's "Commander in Chief." The series is struggling with low ratings despite Davis' recent Golden Globe win.

Dee Johnson. "I don't think (the characters) were intended to be black-and-white.' Johnson said it was difficult to serve so many characters from the start of the story, the death of the previous president, and find time to make the characters multidimensional.

The show, which shut down to regroup after making it through November sweeps, will film only strong in ratings among younger viewers as it is among older, less advertiser-desired audiences.

According to The Hollywood Reporter, the median age of "Chief" viewers is 54.7, giving it the second-oldest audience on the network, behind "Dancing With the Stars." ABC Entertainment President Stephen McPherson acknowledged that Bochco has taken the show in a more political direction and away from family stories (where Davis' performance is more credible).

McPherson said he'd like to see the show split 50-50 between political and family stories because the contrast of "East Wing and West Wing is an important part of this show.

Bochco said the addition of Polly Bergen as the president's mother has been one attempt to boost the family drama by having the dynamic of three generations under one roof.

"That's an extremely interesting environment in which to see the president of the United States, who suddenly and periodically is Mommy's little girl," Bochco said.
