

Musicians turn their 'Fantasy' into reality

Some go to summer camp for the fresh air.

But where do air guitarists go?

Why, to "Rock and Roll Fantasy Camp" (9 p.m., TLC), of course.

Musicians with varying degrees of talent get to practice under the tutelage of Jon Anderson, Dickey Betts, Colin Hay, Nils Lofgren, Bret Michaels, Jane Wiedlin and others.

After a battle of the bands summer-camp experience, they get to perform live onstage at the House of Blues with Roger Daltrey as their front man.

Why does this sound like a "Simpsons" episode? Because it was a "Simpsons" episode, with Homer and the gang jamming with the Rolling Stones.

• And when life, or rather, television, doesn't emulate "The Simpsons," it imitates "Freaky Friday." The new series "Try My Life" (8 p.m., Style) invites a parent and his or her teen to trade places for a couple of days to see what makes the other tick.

The first installment has a tough-talking pest-control contractor living in the soccer shoes of his spoiled teen daughter.

She learns a little about hard work when she breaks a nail or two while spraying insecticide in the crawl spaces of suburban homes.

While well intentioned, "Try My Life" is nothing you haven't seen three or four times already. Besides, whenever I'm faced with a wretched self-absorbed teen, my impulse is to change the channel as quickly as possible.

• "Project Jay" (11 p.m., Bravo) allows "Project Runway" fans to catch up with Jay McCarroll, last season's winner. "Jay" follows the talented McCarroll as he moves out of his parent's house in rural Pennsylvania and attempts to launch his own clothing line in New York City.

Jay did not accept the "Runway" prize money and hopes instead to make more coin selling and licensing his own work.

Along the way, he runs into some old "Runway" rivals, including Austin Scarlett and Wendy Pepper.

And if finding a New York City retail space and apartment isn't difficult enough, Jay has to drop everything when Heidi Klum asks him to design a dress for the September 2005 Emmy Awards, occurring scant days after the birth of her child.

With all of this on his plate, Jay suffers a serious health emergency that requires immediate and expensive attention. "Project Jay" never reveals who is paying for this freelancer's medical insurance.

Kevin McDonough

McCarroll maintains his quick wit and singular vision throughout, reminding us why he became a favorite on "Runway" and emerged as one of the more original TV personalities of 2005.

Tonight's other highlights

• "Punk: Attitude" (7:15 p.m., Independent Film Channel) looks at the music and cultural influence of bands such as the Ramones, The Clash, Sex Pistols and Black Flag.

• Coverage of the XX Winter Olympic Games (8 p.m., NBC) continues.

• Let's hear it from the boys on a two-hour "American Idol" (8 p.m., Fox).

• Jack Black and Colin Hanks star in the 2002 comedy "Orange County" (9 p.m., WB, TV-14, D, L, S).

• "Lost" (9 p.m., ABC, TV-PG, D, L) returns to its beginnings with a repeat of the 2004 two-hour pilot episode.

• A cast reunion on "Project Runway" (10 p.m., Bravo).

Cult choice

A young model (Angelina Jolie) becomes the toast of the 1970s catwalks before succumbing to drugs and inner demons in the 1998 HBO movie "Gia" (6:30 p.m., Oxygen). A bad movie featuring a weak script, "Gia" helped turn Jolie into a household name.

Series notes

On two episodes of "Still Standing" (CBS, TV-PG), a manly milestone (8 p.m.), suffering in the studio audience (8:30 p.m.) ... A test of wills on "George Lopez" (8 p.m., ABC, TV-14) ... Vincent's best intentions on "South Beach" (8 p.m., UPN, TV-PG).

Double the pleasure on "Freddie" (8:30 p.m., ABC, TV-PG) ... A baby-sitting mystery on "Veronica Mars" (9 p.m., UPN, TV-PG).

Late night

Philip Seymour Hoffman sits down on "Late Show with David Letterman" (11:35 p.m., CBS) ... Jay Leno hosts Howie Mandel on "The Tonight Show" (12:05 p.m., NBC).

ACCENT ON PEOPLE

The Associated Press

Actor attracts fans after absence from Australia

Harrison Ford was greeted by hundreds of screaming fans at the Australian premiere of the thriller "Firewall."

FORD

Accompanied by his girlfriend, former "Ally McBeal" star Calista Flockart, Ford told reporters on Sunday that he was happy to be back in Australia for the first time in 12 years.

"It's been a while, it's good to be back," the 63-year-old actor said.

In "Firewall," Ford plays Jack Stanfield, a computer-security expert forced to help carry out a $100 million cyber bank job after a crook takes his family hostage.

Singers perform to raise hurricane-relief money

Celine Dion and Elton John sang together for the first time at a benefit to raise money for Harrah's Entertainment workers affected by last year's hurricanes.

The pair sang duets of "Sorry" and "Saturday Night" before a packed Colosseum at Caesars Palace on Monday night.

They were joined by comedian Jerry Seinfeld to raise $2.1 million for some 8,000 casino workers in the Gulf Coast region of the United States.

The money came on top of $4.5 million the world's largest casino operator already had collected for its staff, said Harrah's CEO Gary Loveman.

"I've played in Biloxi (Miss.) many times," John said. "I'm just glad we can do a little something for those people's lives that will never be the same again for many, many years. God bless them."

Some 4,100 people paid $100 to $1,000 each to watch the trio take turns on the stage.

NEW ORLEANS

Actor will participate in Mardi Gras festivities

Steven Seagal will reign as this year's celebrity monarch for the Krewe of Orpheus, a lavish Carnival parade that Harry Connick Jr. founded.

SEAGAL

Seagal will be the celebrity spokesman for Rebuilding Together, the nation's largest volunteer home rehabilitation group.

Rebuilding Together has partnered with the Mardi Gras Krewe to publicize the group's efforts to rebuild 1,000 Gulf Coast homes.

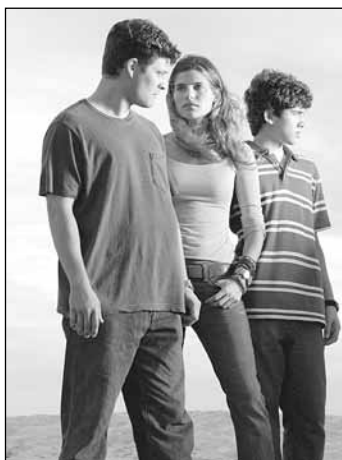

The 54-year-old actor will lead the 27-foot parade on Monday, or Lundi Gras.

Mardi Gras is Tuesday.

Actress gets under the surface of character CALENDAR

By DAVE MASON

SCRIPPS HOWARD NEWS SERVICE

"Surface" star Lake Bell got Hollywood's attention with the right pitch.

"I was very aware of my voice. I made it lower; I wanted to be taken seriously," she said. "I ended up playing a war photographer, a lawyer and an oceanographer. I love being different people with different lives in all sorts of different worlds."

"It is escapism to the nth degree. You acquire children you don't have, and you pretend you're fearless," Bell said. "Laura Daugherty (her character on the NBC show) is absolutely fearless." Bell herself is not, she adds, chuckling.

Laura, an oceanographer, has investigated mysterious sea creatures during the first season of "Surface," which ended earlier this month.

Bell said she's grateful for her oceanographer role and her other strong, intelligent characters. She said she lowered the pitch of her voice to avoid the cutesy roles given to other young actresses.

It worked. Bell was in Hollywood just a and its spin-off, "Boston Legal." After the lawyer shows, Bell became the scientist on "Surface." She said she doesn't know if the series will return for a second season.

She talked about her career via phone from New York, where she's playing a cop's wife in "Pride and Glory," a theatrical movie about corruption in the New York Police Department.

Bell believes Laura is selfish as she pursues her scientific passion. She puts her life on the line in the name of science and takes the risk that her son will be without a mother.

That flaw is one reason why viewers can relate to Laura, Bell said.

"We're all selfish in some way."
