Kelvin Hayden's 56-yard interception return provided the final margin for the Colts. Bears coach Lovie Smith challenged the return, but the touchdown was upheld.

Left: Colts running back Dominic Rhodes' second-quarter touchdown gave the Colts the lead. An Adam Vinatieri extra point made the score 16-14 at the end of the half. Above: Vinatieri added two more field goals in the third quarter to extend the Colts' cushion before Hayden's fourth-quarter pick gave Indy a 12-point advantage. Right: Safety Bob Sanders intercepted Grossman to end a 1:49 drive by the Bears. Chicago's next two drives ended without scores.
