the state tracks the cases a few doctors report.

About 40 doctors statewide make reports, and cases are up one percentage point this year, Richards said. She stressed it's not a dramatic increase and that there's no cause for alarm.

Seasonal flu can affect up to one in five people, according to the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The flu is a respiratory infection caused by a virus, just like a cold. But flu symptoms tend to be more severe than those of a cold. Signs of the flu include a dry cough, chills, chest discomfort and headaches. Those suffering from the flu can expect a stuffy nose, sore throat and body aches. Fever typically runs just above 100 degrees for three to four days. Fatigue can continue for days or even weeks.

Two strains of flu are present in Indiana, Richards said. But their symptoms are the same, she said

Flu sufferers should call a doctor if symptoms last longer than two weeks or if they cough with thick, yellow-green mucus.

The elderly and those with conditions such as heart disease and diabetes should always see a doctor when they come down with the flu because of risks of complications, Bullington said.

The flu can't be avoided, but experts recommend people wash their hands frequently, and infected people should stay home when possible so it doesn't spread.

"Washing your hands is really the best thing you can do," said Bea Chandler, the director of nursing for the Johnson County Health Department. "Frequent hand washing prevents a lot of communicable diseases."

Chandler also recommended people cover their mouths when sneezing and use disposable tissues rather than handkerchiefs.

Filmmakers and researchers unveiled two ancient stone boxes they said may have once contained the remains of Jesus and Mary Magdalene, but several scholars derided the claims made in a new documentary as unfounded and contradictory to basic Christian beliefs.

"The Lost Tomb of Jesus," produced by Oscar-winning director James Cameron and scheduled to air next week on the Discovery Channel, argues that 10 small caskets, called ossuaries, discovered in 1980 in a Jerusalem suburb may have held the bones of Jesus and his family.

One of the caskets even bears the title. "Judah. son of Jesus." hinting that Jesus may have had a son, according to the film. The claim that Jesus even had an ossuary contradicts the Christian belief that he was resurrected

Most Christians believe Jesus' body spent three days at the site of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem's Old City. The burial site identified in Cameron's documentary is in a southern Jerusalem neighborhood nowhere near the church.

The film's claims have raised the ire of Christian leaders in the Holy Land.
