

Before taking your kin's advice on the best places to eat...

YOU NEED TO READ THIS

Let's face it. Some people are not picky about what or where - or even with whom - they eat. For you and others like you, taste isn't just about flavor.

That's why the Daily Journal sends Reid Duffy to all kinds of southside restaurants to muster up the skinny on local cuisine. He will tell you if the gravy's lumpy or the service sporadic. Duffy knows better than anyone if the chef is out to lunch.

Duffy has the perfect job. He gets paid to eat - and therefore is an expert.

Duffy gives you great tips on those quaint eateries and culinary delights. And he will tell you if a slice of cheesecake is the best this side of the creek.

To read Dining with Duffy, pick us up on Thursdays at Einstein Bagels, Atlanta Bread Co. and Starbucks or call 736-2777 to subscribe.
