

MARKETS

The Associated Press

Indianapolis grain

Estimated grain prices Monday at Indianapolis-area elevators: Corn: cash $3.86, March $3.94. Soybeans: cash $6.93, March $6.94.

Eastern Cornbelt direct hogs

Eastern Cornbelt Lean Value Direct Hogs report for Monday: Trend: Barrows and gilts were $1.01 lower compared with previous day's close.

Base-market carcass basis plant-delivered: 0.9 to 1.1 square inches of back fat, $54.00-$60.50; weighted average $56.92. Net prices, including premiums: 0.9-1.0, $54.00-$62.32; 1.0-1.1, $54.00-$61.71; 1.1-1.2, $53.00-$60.50.

Daily movement estimate: 6,383. Wall Street NEW YORK — Wall Street stumbled lower Monday as growing concerns over technology companies led jittery investors to pull money out of the market ahead of this week's earnings reports.

The market has been vulnerable to erratic trading lately, with investors cautious about the direction of the economy and companies' results. The tech sector so far has been knocked down the most, after Apple Inc.'s and Intel Corp.'s outlooks last week fell below the Street's expectations.

With industry leaders like Qualcomm Inc. and Microsoft Corp. releasing their financial results later this week, many investors are bracing for disappointment. "The market is nervous," said Joe Ranieri, managing director in equity trading at Canaccord Adams.

"We've had a few good quarters in a row in tech land. The problem with having good quarters is, it gets harder and harder to impress."

Blue chip stocks were also dragged down by a Wachovia analyst's downgrade of Boeing Co.; the analyst cited possible aircraft order delays from the jet maker.

Overall, earnings reports and economic data this year have signaled growth that's cooling, but not so quickly that it is squeezing corporate profits. This would normally be good news for the stock market, but investors have been retreating — wisely, many market watchers say — on signs they may have gotten ahead of themselves late last year, when the Dow began racing into record territory.

The Dow Jones industrials fell 88.37, or 0.70 percent, to 12,477.16, the biggest one-day drop since Nov. 27, when the index fell by 158 points. Earlier in Monday's session, the Dow declined by 114 points.

Broader stock indicators also dropped. The Standard & Poor's 500 index fell 7.55, or 0.53 percent, to 1,422.95, and the Nasdaq composite index lost 20.24, or 0.83 percent, closing at 2,431.07.

Bond prices rose, though investors' hopes for an interest rate cut have dwindled in response to upbeat economic data. The yield on the benchmark 10-year Treasury note edged lower to 4.76 percent from 4.78 percent late Friday.

The dollar was mostly higher against other major currencies, while gold prices slipped. The stock indexes rebounded slightly from the session's lows after crude oil resumed its downtrend. With the price of crude oil down 16 percent this year, consumer spending could be boosted by lower fuel costs.

Crude fell 86 cents to settle at $51.13 a barrel Monday on the New York Mercantile Exchange, after briefly rising above $53.44. Relief about oil's decline wasn't enough, though, to offset technology-related worries, which were kindled by analyst downgrades of Cisco Systems Inc., the world's largest networking equipment maker; Motorola Inc., the world's second largest cell phone maker; and computer maker Dell Inc.

The stock report after the close of markets Monday: price change -x

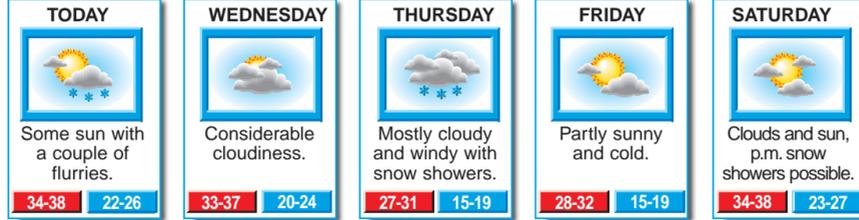

Table with columns: Company Name, price, change -x. Includes AES Group, AT&T Corp, Alcoa, Allstate, ArvinMeritor, Best Buy, Boston Scientific, BP Amoco, Comm Health Sys, Cummins, DaimlerChrysler, Diageo, Duff & Phelps, Duke Energy, Exxon Mobil, Fifth Third Bank, First Indiana Bank, General Electric, General Motors, Heartland Bancshrs, IBM, Irwin Bank, KeyCorp, Kimball Int'l CIB, Kroger, Lilly Co, Lincoln Bancorp, MainSource, National City Corp, Navistar, Owens-Illinois, Pepsico, Phelps Dodge, Sara Lee Corp, Schlumberger, Sprint Corp, Third Century Bncp, Vectren, Verizon, Wal-Mart, Walt Disney, WellPoint.

LOTTERY

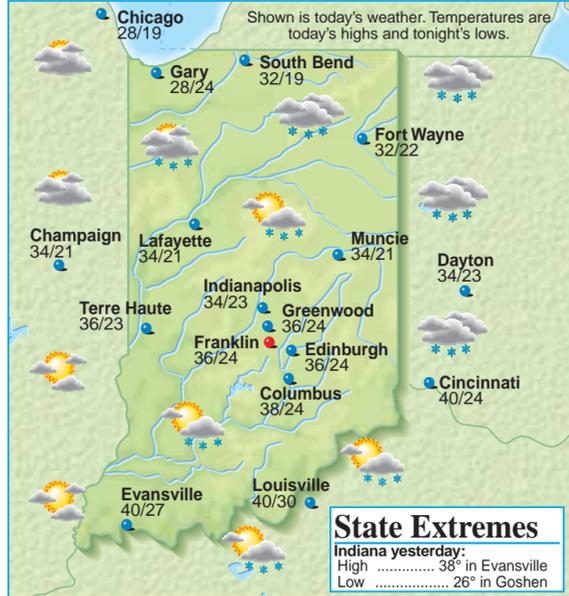

Here are the winning numbers selected Monday in the Hoosier Lottery: Daily Three Midday: 6-5-0. Daily Four Midday: 1-3-2-1. Lucky Five Midday: 4-13-18-21-25. Here are the winning numbers selected Sunday in the Hoosier Lottery: Daily Three Evening: 8-0-2. Daily Four Evening: 5-8-2-4. Lucky Five Evening: 2-9-32-34-36. Hoosier Lotto jackpot: $13.5 million. Powerball jackpot: $240 million. Visit www.thejournalnet.com or read Wednesday's Daily Journal for Monday evening's Hoosier Lottery drawings.

WEATHER

AccuWeather® five-day forecast for Johnson County

Regional weather

Regional summary

Indianapolis/Greenwood: Times of sun and clouds today with a couple of flurries. Snow flurries tonight. Mostly cloudy tomorrow. Thursday: Snow showers. Edinburgh/Franklin: Intervals of clouds and sun today with a couple of flurries. Flurries tonight. Considerable cloudiness tomorrow. Thursday: Snow showers.

Today in weather history™

Browning, Mont., had a world record 100-degree-plus change Jan. 23, 1916. After a morning reading of 44, arctic air dropped the temperature to 56 below overnight.

Regional cities

Table with columns: City, Yest. Hi/Lo/W, Wed. Hi/Lo/W, City, Yest. Hi/Lo/W, Wed. Hi/Lo/W. Lists cities like Anderson, Bloomington, Chicago, Cincinnati, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Gary, Indianapolis, Kokomo, Lafayette, Louisville, Muncie, South Bend, Terre Haute.

Sun and moon

AccuWeather UV Index™

Weather Trivia™

Which continent is least likely to have rain? Antarctica.

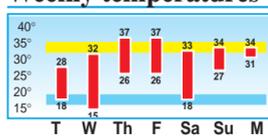

Wind Chill Today

How cold it feels based on temperature and wind speed. 8 a.m. 17° Noon 23° 4 p.m. 29°

Heating Degree Days

Index of energy consumption indicating how many degrees the average temperature was below 65 degrees for the day with negative values counting as zero. Yesterday: 32. Month to date: 627. Normal month to date: 847.

Weekly temperatures

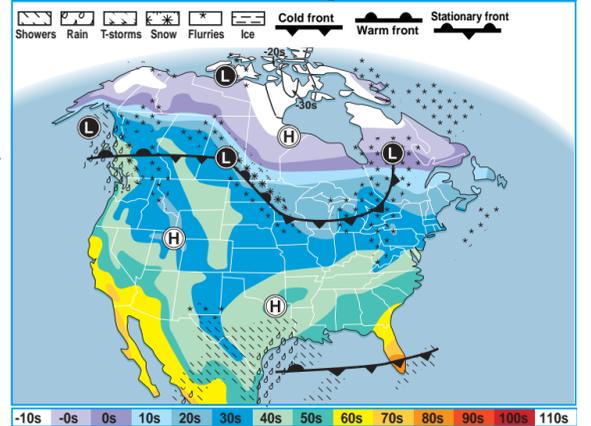

River stages

Table with columns: Station, Fld, Stage, Chg. Lists White River, White River (East Fork), and Edinburg with their respective stages and changes.

AccuWeather.com Almanac

Forecasts and graphics provided by AccuWeather, Inc. ©2007 Statistics for Indianapolis through 5 p.m. yesterday. Temperature: High 34°, Low 31°, Normal high 34°, Normal low 18°, Record high 64° in 1964, Record low -17° in 1936. Precipitation: 24 hrs. ending 5 p.m. yest. 0.01". Air quality: Indianapolis Source: IAPC. Yesterday's average 59. Today's average 70%.

National weather today

National cities

Table with columns: City, Yest. Hi/Lo/W, Wed. Hi/Lo/W, City, Yest. Hi/Lo/W, Wed. Hi/Lo/W. Lists cities like Albany, NY, Houston, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Louisville, Memphis, Miami, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Phoenix, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Seattle, Tampa, Washington, DC.

Iraq

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE)

Monday's explosions, which could be heard a mile away from the banks of the Tigris River, tore through the Bab al-Sharqi market shortly after noon in a clear attempt to kill as many people as possible at a time of day when commuters and shoppers tend to gather there in large numbers.

Witnesses said the force of the blasts sent jagged pieces of the sales stalls hurtling through the crowd. Body parts were strewn on the pavement, and heavy gunfire erupted. Black smoke billowed above the center of the capital.

Rescue workers could be seen hauling away a bloodied man on a wooden cart that vendors use to bring goods to market. His pants had been blown off. Nearby al-Kindi Hospital and its morgue were filled to capacity.

Many of the dead were laid out in the courtyard, covered with white and blue cloths, as loved ones crouched beside them shrieking in grief and shouting oaths against the attackers.

Hours later, a bomb struck a market in the predominantly Shiite town of Khalis, 50 miles north of Baghdad, and a mortar shell slammed into the market. At least 12 people were killed and 29 wounded, police said.

Khalis is in the volatile Diyala province, where fighting has raged for weeks among Sunni insurgents, Shiite militiamen and next 10 hours getting the shirts and hats ready, he said. The Reebok manufacturing facility makes apparel for the Super Bowl and NBA Championship every year, but it's never been for a local team.

Colts

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE)

"It created an extra air of excitement," he said. Some shirts were made ahead of time to sell right after the game, but production really started when the game clock hit zero and the Colts won, White said.

While the locker room shirts and hats are popular now, more official NFL gear will be available in stores later this week, White said.

Super Bowl apparel with the dueling helmets is always popular, and fans can expect Colts shirts that include the Super Bowl XLI logo, he said.

A woman carries a child past shops wiped out by a car bomb in Baghdad, Iraq, on Monday. Two simultaneous car bombs killed more than 130 people Monday in Baghdad, making it the deadliest day in two months.

U.S. and Iraqi troops. In the provincial capital of Baquba, state television reported that gunmen attacked the building and setting off explosives that damaged the structure. Police said the mayor was kidnapped, a report that U.S. officials said they could not immediately confirm.

The twin bombing in Baghdad was the single deadliest attack against civilians in Iraq since Nov. 23, when suspected al-Qaida in Iraq fighters attacked the capital's Sadr City Shiite slum with a series of car bombs and mortars that struck in quick succession, killing at least 215 people.

Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki, a Shiite, denounced Monday's attack and blamed Sunnis. "The alliance of the terrorists and the remnants of Saddam have committed an ugly crime," he said in a statement. Brig. Jihad al-Jabiri, director of the explosives experts department in the Interior Ministry, told state television that each car apparently carried more than 190 pounds of explosives.

Deputy Health Minister Hakim al-Zamili said at least 78 people were killed and 156 were wounded, but police and hospital officials put the death toll at 88.

The attack occurred two days after the start of the 10-day festival leading up to Ashoura, which marks the death of Imam Hussein, grandson of the Prophet Muhammad and one of the most revered Shiite saints.

Imam Hussein died in the battle of Karbala in A.D. 680. The battle cemented a schism in Islam between Shiites and

Armchair

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE)

"They are going to have to play like they did in the second half of this game to win," Keauna Buke said. Sporting a horse hat and Colts jersey, Scott Rasler of LaGrange said it would take more than a "laser-rocket arm" to pull off the victory, referring to a popular TV commercial featuring Colts quarterback Peyton Manning.

"They are going to have to run the ball because the Bears can't stop the run," he said. Rasler's prediction was that the Colts will come away with a 31-24 win.

One man said he had been watching the Colts since his father became a fan when the team moved to Indianapolis back in the 1980s.

"I have been waiting for this," said Brett Newton

LaGrange resident Scott Rasler said he feels the Colts will have to run the ball to beat the Bears in the Super Bowl. He predicts the Colts will win 31-24.

of South Bend. Newton came to Indianapolis to watch the game at a local bar and enjoy the celebration with the area fans.

In the Super Bowl, offense is going to be key for the team, he said. "We use plenty of Febreze," she said sheepishly.

Route

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE)

the House roads and transportation committee, but no hearing has been set. If it is approved by the committee, it would go to a full House vote.

If passed, the proposal would go to a Senate committee and then to the full Senate. Two local legislators said they would work to stop the bill there.

Sen. Brent Waltz, R-Greenwood, said he would fight against the bill if it ever makes it to the Senate, but he believes it won't.

Waltz was one of several senators who proposed changing Major Moves last year so that I-69 could not pass through Perry Township.

"(My reaction) is nothing more than a yawn. People can file bills for anything they want," Waltz said.

The bill is just another way Democrats, who are now in the majority, are trying to fight choices Republicans made over the past few years, he said.

A proposal the governor has already made for a toll road through Johnson County south of Franklin would make I-69 toll-free, Waltz said.

Crooks and Van Haften said they discussed their proposal before Daniels proposed the Indiana Commerce Connector, a toll road through central Indiana that would help fund the construction of I-69.

The bill is still needed even if legislators approve the proposed beltway because the route should still be addressed, Van Haften said.

Sen. Patricia Miller, R-Indianapolis, said she was surprised to hear about the legislation Monday.

Miller was one of the lawmakers who proposed the route change last year.

She didn't know why legislators from the southern part of the state would propose a bill that would affect the people of Indianapolis and Johnson County as much as changing the route of I-69 would, she said.

Sen. Patricia Miller, R-Indianapolis, said she was surprised to hear about the legislation Monday.

Miller was one of the lawmakers who proposed the route change last year.

She didn't know why legislators from the southern part of the state would propose a bill that would affect the people of Indianapolis and Johnson County as much as changing the route of I-69 would, she said.

Sen. Patricia Miller, R-Indianapolis, said she was surprised to hear about the legislation Monday.

Miller was one of the lawmakers who proposed the route change last year.

Advertisement for Benjamin Franklin Drain Vision with coupon for free drain cleaning. Includes phone number 881-5961 and website thejournalnet.com.