Pacers

Raptors shot 56 percent and held the Pacers to 39 percent. Bosh finished 8-for-12 from the field. The first-time All-Star starter blamed himself for Wednesday's loss after failing to box out Cleveland's Anderson Varejao, who dunked over Bosh with 16 seconds left for the final points of the game.

Ending

Grizzlies grabbed their biggest lead, at 35-26, with just less than a minute left. But the second half belonged to Yellow Jackets, who outscored Franklin 51-36 in the half to end what was an otherwise inspiring season for the Grizzlies (16-10).

Garbajosa's 3-pointer gave Toronto a 27-point lead late in the third quarter, but the Pacers began the fourth quarter on a 18-1 run capped by Armstrong's two 3-pointers and Maceo Baston's layup.

Ford and Jose Calderon, Toronto's two point guards, combined for 17 points and 20 assists. Indiana struggled in the first quarter again, allowing Toronto to start the game on a 10-2 run led by Bosh's six points.

Juan Dixon couldn't play because Fred Jones hadn't passed his physical with Portland. Toronto acquired Dixon on Thursday. ... Former Blue Jays Duane Ward and Candy Maldonado sat courtside. ... Indiana's Mike Dunleavy, acquired from Golden State last month, went 0 for 4 from the field and had just two points.
